By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—The six-man American expert commission which will leave for British Guiana to investigate possibilities of refugee settlement offered by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, as announced in the House of Commons, will sail for British Guiana on February 8 on a mission which is "entirely exploratory," George Warren, executive secretary of the President's Advisory Committee on Refugees, informed the J. T. A. The commission's terms of reference provide that it "determine the suitability and practicability of large-scale colonization in British Guiana for involuntary emigrants of European origin and the approximate number which might be settled."

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, in his November 21 statement, said that "at least 10,000 square miles" were available, but it was later estimated that approximately 40,000 square miles were available, Warren said. This includes a stretch of 36,300 square miles, practically all of the country from 5 degrees north latitude to the Brazilian border in the west and south of Surinam on the east, and another 4,600 square miles in the northwest district.

The members of the commission are Dr. Edward C. Ernst, chairman, who is assistant director of the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau in Washington; Dr. Anthony Donovan, sanitary engineer of the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau; Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, director of the American Jewish Joint Agricultural Corporation; Colonel Howard U. Nichols, engineer on leave from the United States Army Service in Panama; Emil C. Bataille, colonization expert of Newark, and Desmond Holderidge of Baltimore, acting secretary of the commission. The British government has assigned Dr. D. W. Duphie, agricultural chemist of the department of agriculture, Georgetown.

Warren said that Anthony de Rothschild of London had been requested by the British government to assume responsibility for the preliminary investigations in British Guiana. The President's advisory committee was collaborating with Rothschild because of the availability of experts in the United States and this country's proximity to the South American colony.

Hitler Hated Most

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Hitler is the most hated man in the world today, with Mussolini an easy second, while President Roosevelt is the most beloved man, closely followed by God, according to a study of nearly 50,000 children from 6 to 16 years of age by the Boys' Athletic League. The study showed that as the "most hated" individuals, Hitler and Mussolini got 88 per cent of the boys' votes and 98 per cent of those cast by the girls.

Police Watch Idly as Mexicans Fight Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

MEXICO CITY—An estimated 5,000 Golden Shirts, under the alleged leadership of Nazis, attacked Jews in the streets, plundered Jewish shops and launched a mass assault on the headquarters of the Jewish Chamber of Commerce while a meeting of a literary club was in progress. The excesses, which climaxed a long anti-Semitic campaign in certain sections of the press, broke out simultaneously in several parts of the city.

Except in isolated instances, the rioters encountered no interference by the police. When police vans finally arrived, agitators mounted them and delivered inciting speeches, threatening massacre of all Jews in Mexico.

The literary club meeting was a reception in honor of Leon Forem, New York Jewish novelist, visiting here. About 100 Jews were present at the meeting when a mob launched the attack with a barrage of stones. The doors and windows of the building were immediately barricaded by the Jews with desks and other furniture. Police arrived on the scene much later and assertedly made no move to interfere.

Eyewitnesses of the violence said the rioters were led by a number of Nazi lawyers who are affiliated with the German Embassy here.

President to Receive Ancient Torah As Award From Council of Young Israel

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

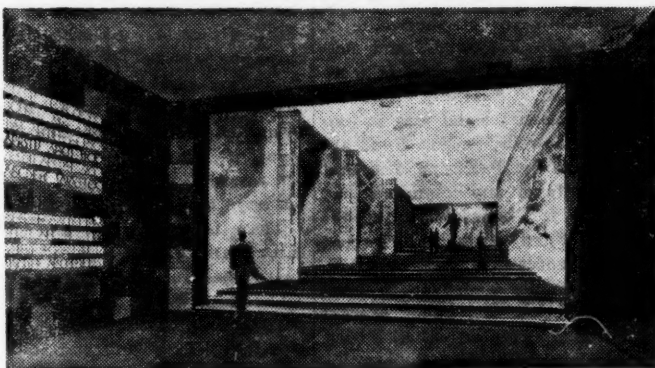

NEW YORK—President Roosevelt has agreed to accept a copy of "Israel's greatest treasure," the Scroll of the Law, which will be presented to him by the National Council of Young Israel in recognition of his humanitarianism and defense of human rights, it was announced by President Jacob O. Zabronsky at the twenty-seventh annual youth foundation dinner of the organization at the Hotel Commodore, attended by more than 1,500 persons. This is believed to be the first time that a President of the United States will receive a Shefer Torah. It will be covered with a velvet cloak on which Mr. Roosevelt's name will be embroidered in gold and will be housed in an especially constructed cedarwood ark.

The presentation will be made at some future date at the White House.

In accepting the award, the

Hate for Hitler Hurts Anti-Semitism Belief

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—The dislike of most Americans for Hitler and Nazi Germany has done much to undermine anti-Semitism in this country, Dr. Alvin Johnson, director of the New School for Social Research, declares in a survey of anti-Semitism appearing in Survey Graphic. The report, in whose preparation more than fifty foreign correspondents, economists, historians and political and social scientists participated, states that anti-Semitism has made little headway in organized labor or among the farmers.

Women in general are not anti-Semitic, Dr. Johnson says, nor are the unemployed, although most of the anti-Semitic propaganda has been aimed to influence them. A factor in undermining anti-Semitism, in addition to the dislike of the Nazi Reich, is the entry of the Jew into the agricultural and non-white-collar trades, the report states.

Jewish Colony In Dominica To Be Set Up

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PARIS—A Jewish delegation from Czechoslovakia, sponsored by the Praha Government, arrived here to sign an agreement drafted by the Dominican Legation in Paris providing for admission of 1,000 Jews to the Dominican Republic to establish a autonomous colony. Under the terms of the agreement, the Jews, all of whom come from Moravska-Ostrava, will be settled collectively on any land they choose under official guarantee that they can set up their own administration and police within the existing Dominican laws, provided that they pay $100 each for visas and $200 landing money for each adult.

The 1,000 comprise 450 Czech Jews, 300 Czech Jews from territories ceded under the Munich pact and 250 Polish Jews who are stateless because their passports were not renewed by Warsaw. They include specialists in fifteen different industries and also physicians, land workers, artisans and others suitable for establishment of a collective agro-industrial settlement on undeveloped territory.

The colonists are permitted by the Czech Government to take along 20,000,000 kronen of their capital in foreign currency, provided that 30 per cent of the amount be deducted for the benefit of the Czech treasury. They also are permitted to transfer their machinery, tools and other movable goods.

B'nai B'rith to Redouble Efforts for Palestine

Special

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A redoubling of Jewish efforts on behalf of Palestine and "a reconsecration to the program of upbuilding Palestine" because it "offers unquestionably the greatest single opportunity for resettlement of a substantial number of our unfortunate coreligionists, if, as we hope, the present political difficulties may be ameliorated," was called for by Henry Monksy of Omaha, president of B'nai B'rith, in his presidential

Organizations Name 40 Jews to Conduct Weighty Negotiations

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, former president of the Zionist Organization of America; Louis Lipsky and Robert Szold are the representatives of the American Zionists for the London conferences. Dr. Wise and Szold sailed last Saturday on the Champlain, and Lipsky was to depart later. Dr. Wise said in a statement to the J.T.A.: "Mr. Szold and I, as representatives of the American Zionists, assume that the question of closing the doors of Palestine to immigration and the restriction of land sales will not, cannot, come up. Any such proposals would, of course, terminate all discussion."

TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—The British Government's conferences with Arabs and Jews, on which Palestine's future status hangs, are scheduled to open next week. Delegations from all parts of the world have been converging on London. Among the last to arrive will be the delegation of American Zionist leaders, arriving on Sunday or Monday.

The Jewish Agency, marshalling its forces for the fateful negotiations, formed a negotiating committee of twelve, headed by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the agency, and including members of the agency executive as well as Jewish leaders drawn from an advisory panel of about forty members, which was chosen from the representatives of Jewish organizations from various parts of the world to advise the negotiators during the parleys. Neville Laski and James de Rothschild are British members of the negotiating committee.

The Jewish Agency maintained its decision to participate in the parleys despite a strong movement in some quarters for a boycott in protest against Britain's attitude on immigration. A boycott would be equivalent to "running away from the battlefield," Moshe Shertok, head of the agency's political department, told a Poale-Zion meeting here, asserting that the parleys afforded the Jews an opportunity to proclaim Jewish rights.

Rumors regarding British plans are rife. The New Zionist Organization's press bureau reported that a cabinet subcommittee had prepared a scheme for Palestine cantonization, including wide local powers for the Arab and Jewish cantons over immigration and other matters, to be imposed if no agreement is reached at the conferences.

Printing Trade Closed to Jews, Rabbi Finds

EDITOR'S NOTE: So startling and scientific is the report on Jewish non-employment of Rabbi J. X. Cohen, head of the Commission on Economic Problems of the American Jewish Congress, that this paper has decided to print it in full, from week to week. The report, the third rendered by Rabbi Cohen, is the most complete and authentic study on discrimination in jobs yet made.

By RABBI J. X. COHEN

Turning, as our work demands, from the small employer to the giant corporation, and vice versa, we dwell for a moment on the important lithographic industry. I bring this up now in order to show the diversity of our work and the complexity of the general problem.

Having been told by a number of experienced workers that in this specialized industry Jewish persons have great difficulty not only in obtaining employment, but even in entering the trade, we examined the situation. Nine firms, constituting the majority of the outstanding organizations in this field, were visited.

The lithographing firms under Jewish control that were studied showed an average of about 11 per cent Jewish personnel, whereas those firms which were under non-Jewish control showed a representation of Jewish workers under 4 per cent. One firm was found, under joint control, with a large proportion of the workers Jewish. This organization was unique in many ways, and employed more Jewish personnel than all of the staffs of the Jewish-owned, plus non-Jewish-owned firms, which we studied, put together.

The explanation given by most of the firms for the small percentage of Jews was that the origin of the lithographic industry was German. Whatever the reasons, our findings indicated that young men who wish to follow this trade find the doors of the industry all but closed. A youth desirous of preparing for the trade must first serve an apprenticeship. The number of apprentices, however, is limited. It is estimated that there are

Freedom of the Press Claims Editor's Chair Reprehensible

To the Editor:

I am amazed to read in your last issue that I oppose sending money to Palestine. Such a statement is an absolute untruth and unwarranted by anything I said on the subject under lodge discussion.

As a matter of fact, I voted for the appropriation of $25 for the Golden Book, which was in accordance with the report of the finance committee. I opposed the increase to $50 on three grounds: First, that the state of the lodge finances did not permit and that stretching a point in favor of supporting a local Jewish Forum did not permit us to continue spending more than we had. Secondly, that the Jewish National Fund was included in the Jewish Welfare Fund appropriation for Palestine, and that I did not favor any community solicitation for beneficiaries of the Welfare Fund, as an interference with the success of that outstanding community endeavor to meet the needs that are, under present conditions, greater than ever. Third, with the English position undefined, with the Arab warfare going on, with the limitation of immigration into Palestine, I doubted the wisdom at this time of acquiring more land, which is the sole purpose of the J.N.F.

I emphasized that the voting of $25 would show our local friendliness to the cause and that the B'nai B'rith Order had proved its interest in Palestine by its gift of $100,000.

To construe what I said as my opposing giving money to Palestine savors of a deliberate misrepresentation of fact. I am a member of the Zionist district here, joining many years before Hitler. I have steadfastly championed in Welfare Fund board and budget committees generous giving to Palestine, so that I have even been accused of being too partisan in less than seventy-five apprentices in the entire metropolitan area. Since the apprenticeship period is its favor. I never have expressed any objection to sending money to Palestine; know only too well that it has proved a homeland and haven for thousands of our brethren in these trying times, and realize whatever we send now, as in the past, will not be adequate.

My view as to present buying of land may be incorrect. It is a personal opinion, based on my information.

four years, under twenty new workers are admitted to the industry yearly.

Furthermore, apprentices obtain their appointments generally through social connections, or through persons employed in the industry. Available apprenticeship places are manifestly at a high premium. It is thus difficult, in view of the small proportion of Jews now in the industry, for Jewish boys to gain admittance.

There is also an extremely small labor turnover, and a job in the industry generally means a life-time connection. While we found a low proportion of Jews in the industry, it is gratifying to record our belief that the trade union of this industry is fair and does not practice discrimination.

Lithography is a field which Jewish youth should strive to enter despite the limitations above outlined. The Congress cannot hope to modify the apprenticeship regulations, but effective work by it can help remove the existing bars of discrimination against Jewish youth.

Youth Survey

The extent of the problem in attempting to work for and serve Jewish youth is not as clearly evaluated as it should be. The American Jewish Congress is indebted to the Welfare Council of New York, which spent $25,000 recently on an excellent survey of the effects of the depression upon youth in New York City. It is a survey your commission had been hoping to make, but it was beyond our financial capacity. The Welfare Council report discloses very many interesting facts; allusion can be made to but a few.

All right, now kiddies, everyone get ready for today's arithmetic lesson. Now then, one and one are two, two and two are four, four and four are—oh, well, it doesn't take a great deal of intelligence to figure that out, does it? And as far as that goes, one doesn't have to be a mental wizard to arrive at the conclusion that HILLMAN'S is the choicest, most economical dress and coat shop in the city, and you don't have to be smart to know that one, either. Wait, did I say "smart"? Yep, believe I did. Well, that's HILLMAN'S, the shop where exclusiveness counts—a smart place for stylish-minded femmes. The prices are just right, too, girls.

Speaking of stylish creatures, Mrs. Lee Hillman, blond tresses and gorgeous figure, looks stunning in almost anything she wears, but I'll bet she prefers tailored suits, and can wear them, uh huh!

INDIANA FUR COMPANY:

All those Silver Foxes trapped and sold to the Davidson Bros. at the Indiana Fur Company would not have fretted so much about losing their furry lives (and hides) if they knew what fate had in store for them. Yes, lassies, if they only knew, while writhing in the hunter's trap, that they would be molded into exquisite jackets, boleros, coats and muffs to adorn pretty young bodies set off by delicate faces. They certainly would have quit wiggling, and with a smile on their faces, would have gladly curled up and died! The INDIANA FUR COMPANY has, really, the largest selection of these beautiful furs in the country and would like very much to show you their distinctive and chic creations. I'll bet you don't come home without one or two or mebbe thr-reeeee.

Saw Helaine Sternberger wearing a light blue fox chubby while waiting for her car downtown. I spied her at a distance, but it was still close enough to know that she looked de-lovely!

L. S. AYRES BAKERY DEPT.:

On February 12, we, as loyal Americans, will celebrate the birthday of a truly great American, Abraham Lincoln. You all know the story of his life, his struggle and finally the glory that was his. You all know, too, how he studied and read by the light from the fireplace in his home, a crude log cabin. Many will be giving parties in honor of "Honest Abe," and those who do will be delighted to know that AYRES BAKERY department, under the supervision of Vern Vanderbilt, has created miniature log cabins to serve as decorations, and appropriate ones, too, for celebration parties. Coming in all sizes from individual cabins to centerpieces, they can be used with or without a cake and may be had in white and rustic brown. For a slight extra charge AYRES BAKERY will be happy to decorate the sides of the cabin with hollyhocks, mount it on a plaque and surround it by a rail fence and green, green grass. Of course, you know that everything I've described is very edible, and good, too.

This year, as in the past, there will be the choice of two grand prizes. All the boys were whoopin' it up
At the Antlers' Thursday night,
They gorged themselves on wine and gin,
But sobered up when the cops blew in!

Naw, they really didn't imbibe as you might think, but hilarity did reign at the stag party held for Orrie Schuchman. All the boys were having a great time watching the games of chance going on in the Gold Room from their windows above the proceedings, and how their eyes did pop when they watched "John Law" step in and stop the fun. Bet they were glad they were upstairs enjoying a nice quiet stag party! . . . Maxie Davis, former basketball star at Male High School in Louisville, Ky., became eligible to play with Butler University this week after coming through final exams with flying colors. Here's hopin' you see action Saturday night, Max, old boy!

Speaking of the basket hoop game, we saw the Kautskys play Pittsburgh last Monday and saw Lee Hillman and his wife, both constant spectators, Al Morris and his fiancée, Sally Passo, Jane Halpern and Harold Berger, Joe Fogle, Mickey Pardo, Jack Calderon, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, Kirshbaum's adopted twosome, minus their little son, Pat; Leon Kempler, Dr. Hirsch, Harry Escol, Frieda Greenwald, Bess Greenwald and fiancé, Al Gorinstein, Abe Borinstein and Sylvia Lerner, Bennie Bornstein and his Yetta, Reva Naperstick and many more.

In the prelims, the Goldsmith Secos took it on the chin from the Stewart-Warners and when the Pittsburgh team marched on the floor for the main event, who was in a smoky city uniform but Dave Cohen! It seems that all the Pitt boys didn't show up and they asked Dave to put on a uniform and be ready to step in if one of the starting five got hurt. Well, he didn't get to play, but they gave him five ($5.00) dollars for putting in his appearance. Easy dough, eh kid? This Monday, the Kautskys tangle with the Philadelphia Hebrews, one of the mightiest outfits in the country and are we going to be there or are we, wow!

The Swank Club dance was quite hotsy-totsy and we saw many gals and guys. Our eagle peepers were in good working order and we spied Bernice Kaplan with Julius Salmon, Honey Bernstein and Sylvia Ann Werner, Hannah Leah Miller and Harold Schwartz, Edith Chasman, Rosalie Levinson, Mary Jane Falender and Joe Jackson Jr., Sophia Nahmias and Alfred Paul, Phil Hyman, Al Rosenberg and Evalyn Pollock, Jeanne Sacks, Lewis Berman, Sid Sacks, Harriet Tamler, Harold Zuckerman, Jane Helpen, Emanuel and Mrs. Farber, Martin Katz and Alberta Shalansky, Sylvia Maier-son and Whitney Greenberg and ten billion others.

Hoorah, hoorah, hoorah, the Jewish Post is moving down to the fifth floor next week to larger and more luxurious offices. Yousah, it'll feel swell not to be crowded like that leetle feeshee, the sardine. That reminds me that the Aaron-Ruben funeral home is being repainted and redecorated to insure a more pleasant and restful atmosphere. What difference does it make?

Listen, young ladies, pour your sympathy out to Bernie ("Casey") Kaseff. The lad got hurt in the intra-mural basketball games at Kirshbaum last Sunday and had to have two stitches taken to close a nasty cut.

Florence Slutsky has informed me that the Junior Council will pull a real surprise at the Junior Jamboree, February 12, when they introduce a sensational blues singer. Is she as good as Sophie Tucker?

Eudice Shapiro, violinist, and Virginia Majewski, violinist, are the guests this week-end of Mrs. J. A. Goodman. Both were guest soloists at the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra concert this afternoon. Lorraine Wormser's marriage to Orrie Schuchman last Sunday night at the Lincoln Hotel was a beautiful one indeed. They took their vows under a canopy of flowers and marched down the aisle to the lilting strains of the famous "Wedding March." There were several hundred people in attendance for the ceremony and dance which followed and some of the out-of-town guests included Alderman Henry Sunnyside of Chicago, who is Lorraine's uncle, Joe Sunnyside and his wife, Mrs. Schanoff and Jack Sharkey of the Illinois State Police, all of the Windy City. From Pittsburgh, came Bob Wormser, brother of the bride, and Mack Winston.

Evalyn Lob, Edna Wiseman, Meriam Sicanoff, Annette Herman, Helen Ann Cohen and Florence Slutsky are all going to Zinn-zi-nati February 4 to attend the sectional council formal dinner dance, and I'll bet they all come home raving about new boy friends.

Here's one time, folksies, that gambling pays, and pays well: Out at Broadmoor, when the men get together to play poker, Vic Goldberg the treasurer, takes a rake-off from each pot to aid Jewish refugees. Mrs. Ben Cohen is also doing the same thing among the women who meet to play Mah Jong. Posies, orchids and more posies to you all. 'Tis a noble gesture.

All basketball stars, attention: The Jewish Post will have a team in the coming Achad-Ha'am basketball tournament and could use a few more top-notch players. Let me know if you want to play. Denk youse.

Organizations Please Take Notice!

The Jewish Welfare Fund appeals to organizations in the community not to give benefits in behalf of German and Austrian Jewish refugees without first consulting the Jewish Welfare Fund or the Resettlement Committee for Refugees.

It is the experience of the Welfare Fund over many years that these benefits are harmful in that they interfere with the legitimate methods of raising funds for this cause and other causes. Years of experience have taught that the best way to raise funds is through the annual campaign; and since we are in a critical period, and we must this year raise much larger funds than ever before, these benefit performances are particularly harmful. Furthermore, those who have had the experience of giving these benefits must realize that they are wasteful in money, time and energy, and that the returns are negligible.

Through the press, and through direct mail, we have learned of several such benefits given recently, and yet our refugee committee, which is the sole committee dealing with this problem, and which represents the entire community, has failed to receive any of the proceeds of these benefit performances. It may be that there were no proceeds left after expenses were paid, which is an indication of the worthlessness of these benefits as a method of fund raising.

We urge the members of our community to discourage these undertakings. As a positive help for refugees the community should give more liberally to the Jewish Welfare Fund when its campaign will be held some time in April.

For the information of the community, our Refugee Resettlement Committee is headed by Isidore Feibleman and is made up of delegates the following organizations: Jewish Federation, Jewish Welfare Fund, Jewish Family Service Society, B'nai B'rith, Council of Jewish Women, Jewish Community Center Association.

H. JOSEPH HYMAN.

mation. Doubtless 90 per cent of my fellow Zionists disagree, and there is no occasion for public discussion or controversy on the subject, and I shall participate in none.

This letter is penned for one purpose: To deny the statement that I oppose sending money to Palestine. I am wholeheartedly in favor of the U.P.A. To twist what I said in such a manner is a perversion of fact. It is especially reprehensible in view of my official position. It was commanded of old, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." This Commandment is still in force and effect today.

Yours truly,
ISIDORE FEIBLEMAN.
Indianapolis, Ind.

Editor's Note: One of the kindest and most unselfish Jewish leaders in the Middle West, Isidore Feibleman, was criticized last week for "preaching withholding of support until the crisis is over." A public figure, Mr. Feibleman must expect his utterances to be scrutinized in the same manner as the man who in argument over the same question made such misstatements as "The Jewish National Fund buys lands for Zionists in Jerusalem," or "Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver in a letter received by the Jewish Welfare Fund accepted the cut the U.P.A. would receive in the new campaign to raise $20,000,000 because he and other Zionist leaders realized the lessened importance of Palestine in the present situation."

Agrees With Paper

To the Editor:

For your effective editorial and the evidence that it gave of your understanding, congratulations!

In every clime, and in every class, people stand in their own light. To their detriment and no matter what the consequences, there are some who do not and will not learn.

Stupidity or a false holding on to a position once taken as a matter of personal pride is the usual reaction of a reactionary. In Jewish life as in economic thinking, often people are motivated by the sanctimony of position.

What happened at the B'nai B'rith meeting on the question of subscribing to the Jewish National Fund Roosevelt Golden Book is illustrative. Notwithstanding factual presentation by Zionists that Jewish refugees have found a haven in Palestine to the number of 26,000 during 1938, and notwithstanding the fact that Arab difficulties have arisen before and have been solved, and notwithstanding the fact that Arab uprisings and immigration curtailments can be and have been factually traced to Nazi and Fascist agitation and financial support, there are those die-hards in Jewish life who will, in spite of and in face of the immutable facts of history, retain their position at the expense of all Jews everywhere.

Palestine will be built! Zionism will prevail! Because it is true; because it is real; because without it there is no Jewish people; there is no Jewish survival.

The National Order of B'nai B'rith agrees with the above and foregoing paragraph, for it, only yesterday, resolved to redouble its efforts for Palestine.

True, perhaps, we may have to wander for forty years in the wilderness until the generation of Pharaoh's slaves have died off. The slave generation is represented by those in our midst who are the compromisers and the doubters and the "sha sha" folks. But a new-born generation who are the living

BOOK REVIEW

There's a carload of T. N. T. in "Address Unknown," The tiny Taylor book that's making Nazis groan.

BILLY ROSE: Just a line to let you know that this columnist thinks you're doing right by the refugees in your "Refugee Revue" at the Casa Manana. . . . It was a tough assignment you undertook in that hangout of the hard-boiled. . . . That you managed to put it over without resorting to squeezing the tear ducts is all the more to your credit. . . . There are some standout performances among the refugee artists. . . . A redhead from Hamburg, Halla Linda, has that torch look and voice that, with little expert tutoring, may very well bring her more than passing notice in the future. . . . Brunette Vilma Kura, of Salzburg, and black-haired Beatrice Lind, of Nuremberg, have gobs of personality that will carry them far in the field of footlights. . . . And honey-blonde Erna Rubinstein, of Munich, fiddled her way right into the hearts of the Manana first-nighters. . . . For the "Refugee Revue," our hat's off to the mighty mite of midnightery—and here's hoping you see fit to put on new editions of it from time to time.

HEADLINE: Add this to your mounting collection of headlines in a cockeyed world: NAZI RANKS PARADISE RUNNER-UP TO GERMANY. . . . Wonder what Il Duce will have to say to that?

CRUISE: When the cruise ship Kungsholm pulled into Trinidad recently, the Jewish passengers on board came face to face with the refugee problem at its most tragic. . . . So impressed were they with the refugees' plight that they took up a collection on the spot. . . . When the Kungsholm departed, its forty-nine Jewish passengers had exactly $650 less in their pockets.

MISH-MASH: Wonder if the postal authorities are thinking of investigating those pro-Coughlinites who are sending through the mail envelopes sealed with a big stamp bearing the radio priest's picture and this slogan: FOR GOD AND COUNTRY—A UNITED CHRISTIAN FRONT? . . . Wonder if there's anything to the report that Leon Trotsky wanted $1,000 for the privilege of being interviewed by H. R. Knickerbocker for the Hearst newspapers? . . . The money to go to political refugees from Germany. . . . Leonard Lyons is making good in a beg way with his B'way column in the New York Post. . . . It is now being syndicated by the King Features Syndicate. . . . Lyons claims he had more than five hundred "exclusives" in his Lyons Den (it'll be known as Broadway Medley in the provinces) in the past twelve months. . . . Orchids to Walter Winchell for his recent column on "the American way," in which he delved into history for famous examples of tolerance and goodwill in this country. . . . Hank Levy has left the National Conference of Jews and Christians and is now on the research staff of the American Jewish Committee. . . . The Fascists are having quite a time picking up copies of that dictionary which defines "anti-Semite" as "a poorly civilized person who is hostile toward and fights the Jews." . . . Ken reveals that Supreme Court Justice McReynolds, whom it describes as "crabby," set a new bad manners record in 1938 by absenting himself from the two Supreme Court sessions at which the late Justice Cardozo was eulogized. . . . Solomon Levitan, veteran Wisconsin politician and former state treasurer, recently was given a dinner in honor of his fifty years as a Mason. . . . "The celebration," he writes, "was one of the finest ovations I have ever received in my life."

Our Film Folk of HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD—The bromidiom anent East-West and "never the twain shall meet" didn't anticipate C. B. DeMille. He not only joined the diametric directions . . . but nailed them down in typically DeMille magnificence—with a golden spike. In short . . . DeMille invited us journalists and such to witness shooting of the big scene in "Union Pacific"—the laying of the last rail which joined the Central and Union Pacific railroads into the first transcontinental line. After many stops and starts, interspersed with CeeBee's witticisms, the spike was driven home . . . the press heaved a collective sigh of relief . . . and Hollywood went back to normalcy.

Carl Laemmle's seventy-second birthday marked by a party that was almost a reunion of Old Universal. . . . Many old friends and former employees came to toast his health. A cake lettered, "Happy Birthday and Good Health on Your 100th Birthday," was Junior's filial touch.

A boy who's just beginning the upward climb and shows promise is Murray Alper, native of New York City. He has a small but telling part in "Next Time We Marry" and played effectively the taxicab driver in "The Great Man Votes."

Sidney Chaplin arrived in America . . . hasn't touched the shores for twelve years. He's Hollywood-bound . . . and there's some talk of his appearing in Charlie's forthcoming epic.

Joseph Schenck, waiting for questioning to bring enlightenment on the Bruckner case, was surrounded by cameramen. He quipped, "Knowing how expensive flash bulbs were, they were wasting a lot of cash on him . . . but then if the poses were good he might get a job in the movies!"

Close-Ups: Melvyn Douglas addressed and impressed a local B'nai B'rith meeting . . . topic, "Democracy." Charlie Chaplin this week walked through the portals of his own studio—first time in two years. Came to watch the setting up of new apparatus for "The Dictator." Paul Muni eagerly hopes to play "The Bishop Who Walked With God," life story of Dr. Martin Niemöller, German anti-Nazi hero. Francis Lederer and Paul Lukas are on the roster for "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" . . . film has twelve important roles necessitating a search for type actors in New York. Jesse Lasky, requisitioned to write the article on "Motion Pictures" in Encyclopedia Britannica, received his remuneration on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his career as a film producer. A complete change for Peter Lorre will be a comedy role in the next Ritz special. Chico Marx's Maxine plays her second part in "Four Girls in White."

The Editor's Chair:

Sam Mantel made one of the most forceful speeches of his career in Louisville Sunday at the B'nai B'rith-A.Z.A. installation banquet. Although his speech was concerned with the problems of the Jew, Sam did not forget to give his audience a few laughs too. "A friend came into my office crying, 'Oh what a terrible accident!'" Sam told his listeners, "An ambulance backed up and killed four lawyers."

Another one Sam told on his profession concerned the lady who called "man overboard" when a shipmate went over the rails during a Caribbean cruise. While the women wailed, "Do something!" she and the captain who came to her side saw a school of sharks swim toward the luckless man. To the woman's astonishment, after the sharks raced towards their victim, they stopped suddenly and swam away. Regaining her breath, she heard the captain calm her, "Don't worry, madam. There's nothing to fear. He's a lawyer, and the sharks are just showing him professional courtesy."

A few items culled from the news bulletin of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem reveal the extent of the accomplishments of that already famous school of learning. One relates how Dr. Fritz Bodenheimer, professor of general zoology and entomology at the university, has been granted a leave of absence for three years, in order to undertake the reorganization of the entomological service of the Turkish government.

A second story tells of a visit to England by Dr. Ladislaus Farkas, professor of physical chemistry at the university. While in England to attend a scientific convention, he was asked to deliver lectures at Manchester University and the University of Newcastle. These he delivered, but press of business forced him to forego the opportunity of lecturing at Cambridge. Dr. Farkas is the youngest professor at Hebrew University.

A third item tells of the visit to Denmark and Sweden of Dr. Hugo Bergmann, professor of philosophy and former rector of the university. Dr. Bergmann was invited to lecture at the universities of Gøteborg, Stockholm and Upsala and was the guest of honor at numerous

We Have a Right to Know

ALTHOUGH the founder of Christianity had to perform miracles before his disciples accorded him blind faith, national Jewish organizations, none of whom claim supernatural ability, are asking American Jewry to face the rise of Anti-Semitism in the United States "calmly."

American Jewry is growing uneasy. Any American Jew with eyes and a radio knows what is happening here. Meeting in Washington this week, the B'nai B'rith executive committee heard the Anti-Defamation League report on the growing number of anti-Semitic groups. Last week the General Defense Council issued a comprehensive pamphlet refuting Father Coughlin's radio charges. There is no attempt to hide the trend.

In face of this situation, neither the General Defense Council or the Anti-Defamation League has broken its iron-clad principle of no statements in any case. This paper has hammered away consistently for the release by these groups of timely news articles telling of their work in counteracting the more notorious attempts to undermine the position of Jews in the United States. Other papers have called for the same harmless news releases, but the groups except to ask for support, have been as silent as a Jew in Germany.

As a result, the uneasiness among American Jewry has grown to proportions where an actual uprising against the evident inability of present groups to cope with the situation would not be surprising. On all sides, Jews see new anti-Semitic incidents, but from nowhere does their come any assurance except a plea for calmness. American Jewry is prepared to follow its leadership and to obey discipline, but why the necessity for holding it in complete ignorance of the whole situation.

The American Jewish Committee annual meeting recently let it be known that the General Defense Council was issuing the Coughlin pamphlet. The B'nai B'rith meeting in Washington told of the number of cases handled by the Anti-Defamation League, but stopped at that point, except to add another pious declaration for democracy (rule of, by and for the people) to the plethora of utterances of this kind.

American Jewry has a right to know. If the situation is out of the hands of present organizations, let the Jews of the United States know. Honesty must be a good policy, at least everyone says so. And knowledge, too, is held up as a beneficent principle.

Current Comment

The Jewish Ledger Publications Deplore Stand of Jewish War Veterans on Communist Question—The Jewish War Veterans of America, that large, prosperous and flourishing organization of former fighting men, seems to have become father, or rather godfather, to a branch organization which has come to the fore recently. It is the American Jewish Federation to Combat Communism (and apparently as an afterthought, Fascism and Nazism).

Its emergence bears witness to the concern of American Jews over the oft-repeated charges of professional anti-Semites and Fascist agents in this country, that Jews are Communists and Communists are Jews, in free interchangeability ad libitum and ad infinitum. Its aim is apparently to impress upon the public mind the real facts about Jewish affiliations.

So far, so good. The majority of American Jews are not Communists and so are apt to approve all attempts to correct charges that they belong in a camp which they have no desire to enter. But it behooves all of us, just the same, to stop and ponder a while over the possible implications of this new movement. Where will it stop? With what questionable and dangerous company will it get tangled up, when as an avowedly anti-Communist outfit, it gets drawn into other movements whose aim is merely to use the anti-Communist bait as a pretext and red herring to attack all liberal and democratic institutions. We American Jews cannot afford to dabble in such potential dynamite and so help to dig our own graves.

Last year practically all Jewish organizations in this country put themselves on record, at their national conventions, as being unalterably opposed to anything whatsoever which menaced American democracy. This year, a change seems to have set in. Jewish groups are forming the habit of opening their deliberations with blanket denunciations of "Communism" and without even defining what they mean by Communism. If they are doing this to please and placate Father Coughlin, then is their definition of Communism the same as his? If so, then American Jews are parting company with their own supporters and sympathizers, all those Christian individuals and groups who from time to time during 1938 have unequivocally expressed the opinion that the defense of Jews, the fight against anti-Semitism is a fight for the preservation of democracy, and that attacks on liberal groups and institutions are the pretext of fighting "Communism" is no way to help preserve American democracy.

We hope that those Jews who, perhaps quite sincerely and honestly, have been drawn into this new movement will think twice before swallowing the Coughlin bait and siding with reaction from motives of fear and timidity. Don't fall into the trap. They are trying to destroy democracy to replace liberalism with Fascism. Come then to the defense of democracy, to the support of liberals, and give the red herring a much-needed rest.

Philadelphia Jewish Exponent Takes Issue With Use of Refugee Benefit as Attraction for Affairs—Strange indeed are some of the manifestations of interest in the plight of the German refugees. Daily the postman brings requests for this, that and the other project—all aiming to alleviate the distress of the Nazi victims. Nor is the number of personal interviews limited.

Take the case of the committee of young people that called the other day. What did they want? That most precious of all articles; that which editors give so begrudgingly though they can't keep it for themselves: publicity. The facts were these: They had rented a hall at a cost of about $250. An orchestra was engaged at a cost of approximately $150. There were incidental expenses—printing, postage, etc., aggregating not less than an additional $100, making a total expense of not less than $500. Tickets for this dance are to sell at 50 cents each. Publicity, with especial emphasis on the urgency of the need, the tragedy, etc., would help to sell these tickets.

An obstinate—hard boiled, they call him—editor insisted on asking a few pertinent questions. Noting that the affair was scheduled for Friday evening, he wanted to know why of all nights in the week they had to choose Friday evening. Well, they never thought of that. Jewish young people, many of them associated with or the sons and daughters of those actively associated with synagogues, but they never thought of that. Couldn't the evening be changed? It was too late for that and—the committee insisted—no one would take this Friday night business as seriously as the editor. So much for that.

But there was still another consideration. Tickets were supposed to sell at 50 cents each. This means at least one thousand tickets would have to be sold and paid for before one cent could be applied to German refugees. Could they sell a thousand tickets? Well—and this is a true transcript of the answer—without publicity they might sell a thousand tickets. With publicity they could sell more. How many more? It is hard to say. Maybe several hundred; maybe more; maybe less, depending on circumstances.

When told that this was unfair exploitation of the Jewish tragedy, the committee was quite indignant; left in a huff and let the editor know that they would proceed without the aid of the Jewish Exponent, quite certain that they would break even.

This is only one instance. We may revert to this matter at a later date.

In the meantime, it would be well for members of the community to ask a few questions before buying tickets for this, that or the other affair presumably in the interest of the German refugees.

ous receptions by the academic staffs of the universities.

The items surprised me. Of course, I knew that the Hebrew University was gathering famous scientists on its faculty; that it was doing splendid work in solving the scientific problems peculiar to the Near East; but it had never struck me the high repute in which the school and its faculty were held throughout Europe. In this connection it is gratifying to note the tremendous part U. S. Jewry has played and is playing in the work of the school. Dr. Judah L. Magnes, formerly rabbi of Temple Emanu-El in New York, is president of the university and a great part of its finances comes from the United States. At present a medical pre-faculty is being organized preparatory to the institution of a full medical faculty on completion of the Hadassah-Rothschild-University Hospital this spring.

The Hebrew University certainly stands as one of the outstanding achievements in the regeneration of Palestine.
